Globalization of Technology: Perspectives of the Sixth Generation of Council of Academies of Engineering and Technological Sciences, vol. 1988-02-01 The technological revolution has reshaped the world, with important consequences for businesses, governments, and the global market. Computer-aided design, telecommunications, and other developments are already small groups to compete with traditional giants in manufacturing and other fields. In this volume, 16 experts and individual experts representing eight countries discuss the growth of technological advances and their impact on specific regions and parts of the world. From various perspectives, these distinguished commentators describe the practical aspects of technology's reach into businesses and trade.

Beyond States and Markets - Isabella Bakker 2012-08-21 Seeking to extend our understanding of the contemporary global political economy, this book provides an important and original introduction to the current theoretical debates about states, reproduction, and the role of states in the economy. This book examines the implications of new inter-state power relationships and new forms of social reproduction. It explores the nature of the inter-state power relationships as a form of state capitalism that undermines the implications of new inter-state power relationships and new forms of social reproduction. It explores the nature of the inter-state power relationships as a form of state capitalism that undermines theoretical, economic, and political aspects of states intransigence, international trade, and climate change. The book also identifies a growing crisis in the global political economy.

The Routledge Handbook of Transformative Global Studies - Lea Engelman 2020-07-10 The Routledge Handbook of Transformative Global Studies provides diverse and cutting-edge perspectives on this fast-changing field. For 30 years the world has been caught in a long 'global interregnum,' plunging from one crisis to the next and witnessing the emergence of new, vibrant, multiple, and sometimes contradictory forms of popular resistance and politics. This global 'interregnum' - or a period of uncertainty where the old hegemony is fading and the new ones have not yet been fully realized - necessitates critical self-reflection, brave intellectual speculation and (un)learning of perceived wisdoms, and brave intellectual speculation and (un)learning of perceived wisdoms.
